The fire was quite active and grew to the south and west. The fire is still on USFWS land. The eastern end of the fire moved south into Limited. The western end flanked west and moved south. We made three attempts to staff an allotment to the south of the fire and were unsuccessful due to smoke and low visibility. The allotment in question is not currently threatened with today's fire growth and the forecasted wind and natural barriers. There is an allotment to the west of the fire that is now coming into play as the fire continues to flank that way. Expect the fire to continue showing growth to the south and southeast with forecasted N and NE winds while continuing to flank to the west. Huslia is not threatened at this time. Will map tomorrow and update perimeter.
