Mark Twain and Shawnee NF Flood Update, 7/14/93

Mark Twain NF (Missouri)

The Mark Twain is not being directly affected by Mississippi River watershed flooding at the current time. Rivers on the Forest are at expected levels for this time of the year. The Forest is receiving many inquiries as a result of media images of a flooded St. Louis/midwest, and is issuing a news release today saying that the Forest's rivers are open (and at safe levels) for canoeing and other recreational uses. FEMA has contacted the Forest as part of pre-coordination, and the Forest has contacted the Missouri Nat'l Guard to discuss necessary contingencies. Late yesterday, 3 Mark Twain people were dispatched to Jonesboro/Anna, IL to assist local authorities in flood protection planning efforts.

Shawnee NF (Illinois)

Areas in and near the Murphysboro and Jonesboro Ranger Districts on the Shawnee NF started experiencing some Mississippi River backwater flooding (closing roads) late last week. The Governor declared 3 riverside counties State disaster areas on 7/12 and is seeking federal declaration. Some residents are loading semi-trailers with belongings and some have evacuated the area, anticipating high water later this week. County officials are involving Rangers in emergency planning meetings, and the FS has been asked to work with the Army Corps to elevate a flooded road that provides access from the bottomlands to high ground (the Forest will not start any work until a FEMA declaration occurs). The Forest has provided barricades and road closed signs. Vice President Gore and US Rep. Jerry Costello (D-IL) flew over southwestern Illinois on 7/12.

On 7/13 the Shawnee Forest Supervisor requested some skilled assistance to the affected counties through the Incident Command System, and 5 FS people were dispatched to provide pre-disaster planning, public information, and safety coordination advice and counsel to local authorities. This "short team" started arriving on the Forest 7/14. Army Corps, Levee District, and Nat'l Guard personnel are monitoring levees to check for seeps and leaks (and have found some)--if there is a levee failure, the Forest engineer predicts bottomland flooding that will strand 100 families. The levee at McClure, IL is one foot away from cresting, and rain continues to swell the rivers to the north. The Mississippi in this area is predicted to crest on 7/20 at 45 feet.

The Jonesboro/Anna IL Water Commission has asked for FS assistance in sandbagging a water pumping station in the floodplain that serves 12,000 users. The Forest plans to supply 50 Golconda Job Corps workers to help with the sandbagging project on 7/15-16.

The Forest is coordinating with affected counties to work with the Illinois Emergency Management Agency in continuing requests for FEMA assistance in the area. As of 7/14, 12 counties in Northern Illinois were declared federal disaster areas (and a FEMA field office was established in Moline, IL), but the southern part of the State had not received a federal declaration.
