The burnout planned for today happened on its own last night, but personnel were able to hold it at the creek bottom. Good RH recovery and below freezing temperatures aided the firefighters during the night. Crews will continue to burn out pockets, secure the fire edge along the north side of the allotment and mop up 200 feet in around the allotment. The fire continues to creep through the hardwoods, making runs when it hits the black spruce. Total acreage growth was 270 acres.
