Fire personnel were able to get around the fire overnight, sizing it up as 18 acres. The fire had received a small amount of precipitation and was still holding some heat in holes near the line and in the interior. At 1615 there was a transfer of command, all 8 jumpers were demobilized, and an I.A Squad from Shageluk along with 2 overhead were mobilized into the fire. Fire personnel continued to grid the fire through the evening, finding a few interior pockets of heat. Plans for tomorrow consist of gridding, mopping, and establishing a tentative demobilization date.

Fire personnel reported at 0905 that they were able to secure the edge overnight but were still unable to get water on the fire due to scarce water sources in the area. The fire was exhibiting active fire behavior as soon as the sun came up, and do to the complexities that come with the landscape, and activity early in the morning, it was decided to keep the 8 jumpers on the fire for an additional shift. By 2003, the fire had received some isolated precipitation, and fire personnel were gridding 30 foot in from the perimeter. Plans for tomorrow consist of shuttling an I.A Squad from Nondalton into the fire to replace the 8 jumpers that are on it now.
